Teaching Excellence Framework Stance

We, the Students' Union, believe that the teaching quality at the University of Lincoln should be of equal importance as research, and that the Teaching Excellence Framework may be a way to achieve this. As such, we urge the University of Lincoln to provide support for lecturers to enable them to provide excellent teaching across the board, and we are committed to supporting the University to achieve this. We cannot and do not however agree with any rise in tuition fees.

The Students' Union does not support any sabotage or boycott of the National Student Survey (NSS) as an active demonstration against the Teaching Excellence Framework. We understand the importance of the NSS to the continuous enhancement of the student experience, and as a result, we remain fully supportive of it, as the University and Students' Union continue to work in partnership to improve the student experience at the University of Lincoln. We remain adamant in our determination to get the best outcomes from the NSS for our students.
