

To Let Signs

This Union notes that student properties often have to let signs displayed on properties after properties have been let and in most cases are not removed year on year. This causes students to be at higher risk of crime and marks student properties out against other members of the community causing problems to community cohesion.

This Union believes that to let and accommodation advertisement signs on student properties cause students to be at heightened risk of crime and to be singled out in the community and that these signs should not be displayed.

This Union resolves that the union and its officers should campaign and lobby to ensure student properties will not have displayed accommodation advertisements such as to let signs.
